Tuffin Papers

Photostatic copies of 126 papers, dated 1777-1783, relating to the Marquis de la Rouërie, known in America as Colonel Armand. From the Washington Papers in the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

"With Sword in Hand." A translation of the work published in France under the title "Le Marquis de la Rouërie et la conjuration Bretonne," by G. Lenôtre. Translated by J.D. Hufham. [2], 392 typed sheets. 11 1/2 x 9 1/2 inches.

Presented by J.D. Hufham of Portsmouth, Virginia.

Received his letter relative to the want of forage; the 2000 bushels of corn will do until he is better acquainted with circumstances; plans to be at Winchester on the 28th; asks him to secure fodder, hay, and straw; Sergeant Martin will provide assistance.
